Logo, colour and typography

The approved identity

The long t

The extended stroke is the distinctive feature of the wordmark. Keep its length, spacing and relationship to the stacked name intact.

The red seal

The Chinese character in the seal is pronounced chuang and means create. The seal finishes the stroke and connects the identity to China.

Use the complete supplied artwork. No slogan or Chinese text sits beneath this approved version.

Lead with black and white

Use charcoal and white for most layouts. Reserve vermilion for the seal, key buttons and short highlights. Light grey supports panels and backgrounds; mid grey supports secondary text.

HEX and RGB are digital master values. CMYK values are approximate mathematical conversions, not a profiled press match. Approve a physical proof for print.

Supporting typography

Plus Jakarta Sans

Headings / ExtraBold 800

Confident headings with concise wording and natural spacing. Use sentence case for website and marketing copy.

Inter

Body 400 / Labels 600

Use for service information, proposals, forms and practical details. Keep body copy open and easy to read.

The logo is artwork

The approved wordmark has been reconstructed as vector paths. Neither supporting font is claimed to be the exact logo typeface. Use the supplied logo files instead of retyping it.

Both variable font files and their original licence notices are included. The Chinese seal is also outlined artwork and does not require a Chinese font.

Logo versions and clear space

Primary on light backgrounds

Reverse on dark backgrounds

Space and size

Leave at least one seal width clear around the entire logo. Start at 220 px wide for digital use or 55 mm for print, then check the seal at the actual output size.

Keep the mark intact

Do not stretch, crop, rotate or change the spacing. Avoid shadows and gradients. Use the monochrome versions when only one ink colour is available.

The standalone seal is supplied for supporting details and avatars. Keep the full brand name visible elsewhere. On textured materials, test fine seal details before production.

Files and production handoff

SVG	Outlined scalable artwork with no font or bitmap dependencies.
PDF / EPS	Vector logos for design, print and supplier handoff.
PNG	Transparent logos at 3200 px wide; standalone seals at 1000 px.
Fonts	Plus Jakarta Sans and Inter, with original licence notices.
Digital	HEX, RGB and approximate CMYK values, JSON and CSS tokens.
Reference	The approved concept image for visual comparison.

Vector paths were traced and cleaned from the approved image with minor curve tolerances. The small seal retains its original organic edge. Print colours and minimum sizes should be checked on the intended material.

For dark backgrounds choose Reverse. White artwork may appear blank in a white preview.
